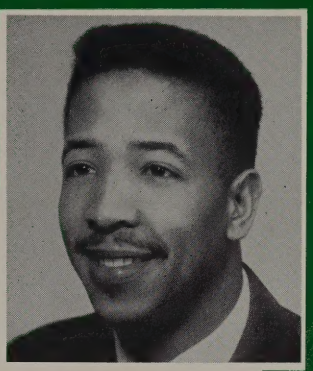
Where to From Here?

Editor's Message



We paddle our little canoe down the quiet, calm, and confluent stream of life. Yes, we even pass the site of Wilberforce University. Some of us stop and explore the ivory buildings, walk upon the sacred grounds, live and study within the hallowed walls of wisdom, and partake of the magnificent spirit and heritage of this Great Institution.

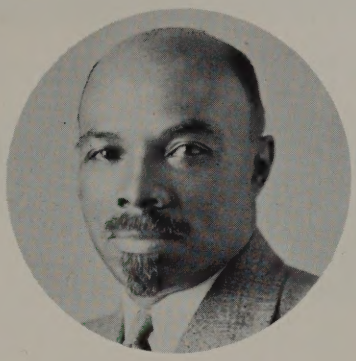
After four years of exploration we resume our journey down this calm, quiet stream of life. This time we'll find, much to our expectation, that the stream empties into a great, wide, deep, and troublesome body of water. The water is full of competition; full of frustration; full of loneliness; full of despair; full of disappointments; full of heartbreaks; full of failures; and full of all the vicious elements of life.

Therefore it is essential that while a traveler and student, studying at Wilberforce University, we take full advantage of all opportunities offered. Consistently and persistently preparing to face the long voyage over life's troublesome sea. If we have drunk deeply from the cup of WISDOM, KNOWLEDGE, and UNDERSTANDING, we can say, "ALTHO, the little stream, whose calm waters have led us along the sheltered banks of our school days, now opens into a mighty and offtimes forbidding St. John's. Yet, we do not quake at thought of the long voyage ahead of us, but face the open waters with hope and determination and a keen yearning to discover what lies just over the next horizon. Striving ever onward and upward, endeavoring to contribute something to humanity, for the betterment of mankind."

Sincerely,

Lewis Walker,
Editor

Dedication



Dr. Gilbert Haven Jones, distinguished scholar, educator, and man of letters, has served Wilberforce University in a number of positions and through several decades. Dr. Jones, the son of a former president of the university and a former chairman of the Board of Trustees as well as former bishop of the A.M.E. Church, is a loyal and faithful Wilberforcean. He is well known and revered by several generations of Wilberforce graduates and former students. No other member of the present corps of faculty members has served the Institute over as long a continuous span of years as he. From border to border, coast to coast, and many foreign areas he was loved, admired, and respected by Wilberforce Alumni.

Dr. Jones earned his A.B. and B.S. degrees at Wilberforce University, his Ph.B. and A.M. at Dickinson College, and his Ph.D. degree at the University of Jena (Germany). He is the author of several publications; holds membership in numerous state, national, and international scholar and professional societies, and is in demand as a lecturer and speaker in many sections of the country. He has served on several state and national commissions of importance. Currently he serves as a member of the National Advisory Council in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

During his tenure at Wilberforce University, this educational statesman has filled several top-notch positions. He has served as professor of Philosophy, Dean of the College of Education, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Science, and President of the University. His name is signed on the diplomas, certificates, and degrees of thousands of Wilberforceans.

To our beloved professor, councellor, and friend, endeared to the present generation of students and faculty members, as well as alumni; to this outstanding civic-minded philosopher, public servant, and teacher and this Christian gentleman - Dr. Gilbert Haven Jones - with sincere devotion, and genuine respect and admiration - we, the members of the Forcean Staff, dedicate this publication, The 1959 Edition of The Forcean.

Dr. Rembert E. Stokes

President's Message

To the Members of the Class of 1959:

It is a pleasure to congratulate the fine members of this Class who have been prepared for competent service and thoughtful living during four years of residence at our beloved Wilberforce University. Some educators have declared that one fallacy in collegiate thinking is the view that during college days one is exempted from making responsible decisions. I have been gratified to observe that in this year to be remembered for the opening of the Hill Memorial Gymnasium and the burning of Emery Hall, our seniors firmly rejected this fallacious view and have set a glorious example of full-blooded acceptance of inescapable obligations. Many of you gave noble response to the divine summons for courageous decisions which arose from the midst of our daily lives. The influence of your leadership will enrich our community for years to come.

As this summons for moral decision and courageous action is served upon you at intervals over the years, may God strengthen you to untrembling, unevasive response, for in your faithful intelligent performance, your education for living is justified and your Alma Mater honored.

Sincerely yours,

Dr. Rembert E. Stokes,
President

Greetings:

Since I am on a new job, I feel somewhat like a freshman, yet, as I look back over the years, I think with fondness, of the many, many graduates whom I have congratulated and wished well. I am proud to see so many of our graduates doing well out in the world.

As Vice President in charge of Alumni and Fund Raising, I wish you all success. Do keep in touch with me and assist us in keeping closer touch with our alumni who in turn, can do much toward making Wilberforce University a GREATER school.

Vice President

Academic Dean's Message

"WHERE TO FROM HERE"

What a poignant, provocative, and pungent interrogative thought! It is especially significant for students who are about to be graduated from college during this highly developed era of scientific and technological advancement in the latter half of the twentieth century. "WHERE TO FROM HERE?" The question is pregnant with speculation - challenge, possibility, and probability. Does it indicate that the questioner is perplexed with confusion, doubt, and indecision? Can it be that the way-farer has come to the cross-roads, and is asking himself momentarily, "Shall I go to the right, or to the left?" "Do I dare stand where I am and wait, while others forge ahead?" "Can I possibly afford to turn back?" "Do I have the ability, the courage, the faith, the determination to move steadfastly forward?"

My young friends of the Class of 1959, your brief span of years here at Wilberforce University as undergraduates; your rich heritage, and your varied experiences as college men and women in a dynamic, swift-moving world have certainly taught that this is no time for dubious indecision and hesitation. Your college years have been a period of preparation and training for the journey ahead. It has been a sort of proving ground, a "FOUNDATION," so to speak. Let us hope that your foundation has been built upon a rock for the great push Forward. "The time is not soon, but NOW!"

"Where to from here?" There is but one answer to that query. It is "Move ONWARD! UPWARD! FORWARD! Go forward and make your contribution to God and your fellowman. Should you stop, or turn back, you are almost certain to be trampled and crushed by those on the Forward march behind you. Your parents, or guardians are depending upon you to move forward. Society and your Alma Mater urge you to move forward. Posterity demands it of you. "Where to from here?" The real virtues and rewards are in front, not behind you, regardless of what you have experienced in the past; despite your present status, or how the future may seem to be at this junction - with unswerving faith in God, the Holy Triumvirate; firm belief in your own ability and resourcefulness; love for all mankind, and fervent devotion to the noble cause of human welfare and advancement - may you always keep your feet on the ground, in spite of the space age; your head erect; your head, heart, and eyes open and alert, and move ever FORWARD! "Over the Alps lies Rome." "- - - And the Lord said unto Moses - - -, Speak to the children of Israel, that they go FORWARD!"

Best wishes for continued success,

Milton S. J. Wright
Associate Dean

TO THE CLASS OF 1959

Greetings:

The time has come for congratulations and farewells. I tender the one gladly and the other reluctantly. I am mindful of the fact as individuals you have come to the end of an important phase of your careers. However, the atomic age in which you live demands that you contentiously assess the abilities and capacities which you have acquired during your college experience and that you continue to learn. If you heed this injunction, you will be able to solve your problems with speed and accuracy.

At any rate those of us who have known you at Wilberforce will follow your careers eagerly and be gratified to learn of your successes.

With best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

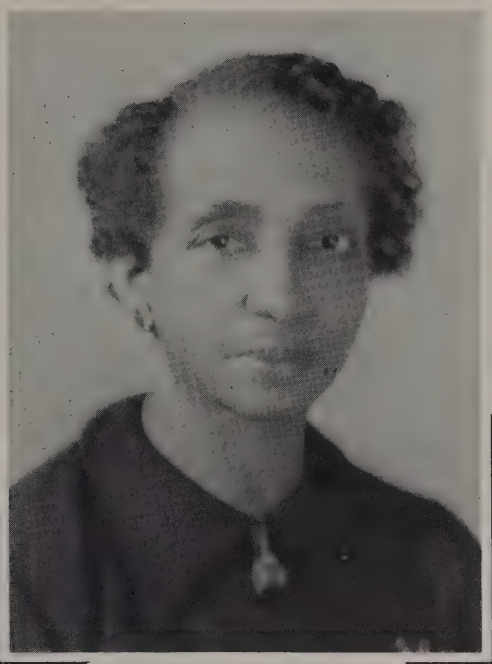
Frederick A. McGinnis
Registrar

To the 1959 graduating class of Wilberforce University:

My sincere wishes for a happy and successful life go with you. I trust the four years you have spent in college will be a very helpful tool in meeting some of the realities of life you now face. A very successful business man once recited twelve things to remember and I deem them worthy of recommendation to you as you go on your way. They are:

"The value of time
The success of perseverance
The pleasure of working
The dignity of simplicity
The worth of character
The power of kindness
The influence of example
The obligation of duty
The wisdom of economy
The virtue of patience
The improvement of talent
And the joy of originating."

James S. Few
Business Manager



Message to Seniors:

What may I say to you who are about to leave your Alma Mater?

Here you think you have met difficulties and have been faced with many crises. But be assured that these may not compare with those you will meet outside these hallowed walls. Life is made up of surprises. The success or failure of your future depends upon how well prepared you are to face it. Every year, more is demanded of the graduate. I can only hope and pray that you have so developed a Philosophy of Life that will enable you to meet these crises with fortitude.

"Be strong, we are not here to dream, to drift.
We have hard work to do and loads to lift."

Sincerely,

F. Isabel Askew

It is very difficult to set forth for the college graduate words of wisdom containing sufficient emphasis and thought to serve as an able assistant in the struggle ahead. This is at once an almost impossible task because of the element of the unexpected lurking somewhere in silence to show itself on the tomorrow.

I do want to express a concern however, and in keeping with this, I call on you who have just completed four years of formal academic training to consider the disparity between the physical progress in man's culture and spiritual lag. I feel certain that you may be witnessing the decay or even destruction of our civilization if you, along with others, fail to set forth as ultimate values ethical, moral and spiritual principles.

The return you will receive from the effort suggested here will hold as its greatest reward, peace of mind, because you will be compelled to elevate humanity as an end product with needs, wants and desires as means to the end. You will also measure success on the basis of how well you have served God and humanity and not by the amount of materialistic possessions you have acquired.

Respectfully,

Arthur P. Stokes
Public Relations

Greetings:

Commencement has come again to the hundreds of colleges and universities across the land. The word commencement derives from medieval days, and referred originally to the first public oration of a bachelor candidate. But it has come to be associated in the public mind with the beginning of a career, and, indeed, with the start of mature life. This is as it should be. As commencement speakers inevitably point out, the young people have been given the best training society has devised for youth, and must now take up the responsibilities of the world.

Meanwhile, everyone enjoys the pleasant pomp under the campus elms. If the graduates know already that they are closing a golden chapter in their lives it only makes the memories sweeter. They are proud of their diplomas, and their families, sitting on the rows of hard wooden chairs, are proud of them. A college degree has always been a badge of achievement in American life. It represents much more than the ability to get through a series of exams and the money paid for tuition.

The world seems neither cruel nor hard to the college graduate of today. Business is competing strenuously for his favor. The holders of scientific or engineering degrees, of course, are the first to attract the attention of job offerers. High-ranking engineering graduates are being offered their pick of employment. The liberal arts man, while less of a magnet, will nevertheless have little difficulty in finding a job. Never has the wealth of opportunity been greater for those who wear caps and gowns this June.

With best wishes, for your success.

Casper LeRoy Jordan,
Chief Librarian

Great crises in history pose perplexing problems for people who must live through them. Many possible solutions, involving the use of material wealth, physical prowess, national resources, and political alliances, in varying combinations will be offered. Each will stand or fall on the character and integrity of the men who conceive, nurture, and support it.

All of us will be involved in possible solutions for the problems of our day as they are offered now and in the future. The greatest contribution to the success of any of these will be made by men of honor and integrity whose character and sincerity inspires confidence and assures purity of purpose. A movement, blessed with the support of such men will have the dynamic creative vigor, that will lift the weary to their feet. The tired and despairing will find renewed strength. Hope will be restored to the hearts of the hopeless.

Our hope for the present and the security of our future depends on such men. They will be the hinge on which the door of history turns.

We expect no more, no less than this from you.

Sincerely yours,

Charles Spivey Jr.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY '59

October 1955 marked the arrival of the class of '59 on the sacred grounds of Wilberforce University. The main objective being, to seek inspiration and guidance from the fountain of knowledge. Wilberforce's well seasoned tradition and its great educators.

As a part of the University's efforts to acquaint the students with its policies and traditions, we were first oriented. It was at this particular time, that we were able to obtain the spirit and foresight which we hoped would carry us through the ensuing years. At the end of this week, we took part in the old and meaningful Capping Ceremony. The requirement upon us of either, "Dog or Kitten," made and marked the beginning of Freshman Initiation. These lingering memories shall always remain with us. It was through these events that we learned the true meaning of the old axiom, "To command, one must first learn to obey."

The determination to develop the best minds enabled us to settle down to serious study with great hopes and anticipation.

Edwin Wilson was chosen as our first and great president, who planned our first in a four year series, "The Wilberrocco."

In a quality stressed situation, we moved forward.

The fulfillment of many dreams as far as Greekdom was concerned, befell us - we had striven for the heights and were successful.

We mourned our summer departure, although we knew that we would meet again in the fall.

Returning in the fall to our sacred Alma Mater, our once again elected president, continued his leadership.

In our junior year many of us were chosen as, Big chums and Big brothers.

Under the very able direction of our University's chief librarian, Mr. Casper L. Jorden; our class was able to present a play intitled "The Rope." This was quite a success. The proceeds from this effort enabled us to purchase books as a contribution to our library.

We are proud to indicate that three of our classmates were elected to serve on the student council.

Our senior year was started with Edwin Wilson as our president once again.

A fire in Emery Hall marred the beginning of the year; this effected us much.

Our end is nigh, our joys and sorrows are neatly wrapped in a bundle of experience, and we look forward to a bright and fruitful future.

May God continue to bless you, oh, Wilberforce.
